Section 24: Archived Videos

This section consist of Old JavaFX Introduction Video for JDK 8 and Old JavaFX Code Vs FXML Video for JDK 8.

Java applications can obviously have graphical user interface. JavaFX is being used here and that's a set of API's that can be used to build interfaces in Java .

It essentially a set of Java packages and it's the successor to swing which was Java's UI toolkit.

We can create UI components using code as well as using fxml. Using fxml is best practice.
